New Restaurant Opens at Abel Point

Meridien Marinas Abel Point has welcomed the new Barracuda's Oyster Bar and Grill to the marina's commercial and retail precinct.

Henk Witsen, Shaun Tatum and the team have been busy fitting out the premises ready to offer a range of delectable delights to peckish visitors to Abel Point Marina.

"We have been looking forward to having Henk and his team here for a while and we welcome Barracudas on board," said Marina Manager Richard Barrett.

Barracuda's part owner and former Cairns gourmet restaurateur Henk Witsen said he's looking forward to meeting more of the Airlie Beach identities hungry for a new dining experience.

"We have now been granted a full liquor licence and look forward to offering visitors and Airlie Beach locals something different in dining," Henk said.

Barracudas Oyster Bar and Grill takes up the space that used to be the old Abel's Restaurant.

"My business partner Shaun and I are promising a comprehensive across the board Australian menu," he said.

"It will include tasty dishes inspired by exotic locations from around the world and the best priced oysters in town starting from just $19 a dozen."

Henk said not only will there be 12 different varieties of oysters to choose from but the whole menu will have something to suit everyone's taste.

"We won't be ignoring old favourites like top quality Australian steak and we couldn't open a restaurant called Barracuda's without putting fish on the menu."

"We just look forward to meeting the people who want to come into Barracuda's Oysters Bar and Grill for a bite as we are sure there will be something here for everyone."
